2019 INTERCOLLEGIATE CHAMPIONSHIPS

ROBERT MORRIS-ILLINOIS WOMEN, WEBBER INTERNATIONAL MEN WIN 2019 ITC

The women's title match not only went to a deciding fifth game, but also came down to the last bowler, Robert Morris-Illinois senior Courtney Ermisch.

Needing two strikes and four pins to give her team the title, Ermisch struck on her first shot and buried the second. She then put down nine more pins for a 183-177 victory and the title.

"That is the stuff that, in your dream, you need a double or three to win it, and you get it," Ermisch said. "Obviously, winning a title has been a dream forever and this is insane. I don't have words right now. I'm still shaking, still speechless."

When the Eagles, comprised of Ermisch, Mattie Brandos, Molly Brandos, Britney Brown, Morgan Petrin, Megan Macunovich, Danyell Chupp and Veronica Dreyfus, lost the first two games of the women's championship match, it simply put them in a familiar position.

The team lost the opening game of all but one of its five matches leading up to the title.

But in Game 3, the Eagles took advantage of two single-pin misses by McKendree for a 212-185 win, and posted seven strikes in a 217-181 Game 4 victory to force a deciding game.

"I think the spark of it being 'now or never' is kind of where we thrived," said Ermisch, who was selected as the tournament's most valuable player. "We didn't have another game to wait, it was either go-time or time to go home. In this team, we never give up, we never quit."

Joining Ermisch on the all-tournament team were McKendree's Breanna Clemmer, Alexis Neuer of Delaware State, Lindenwood's Haley Cummings and Olivia Farwell of Duquesne. Farwell also was selected as the Chris Stoehr Sportsmanship Award winner.

In the men's title match, Webber International snagged a 179-176 victory in Game 1 behind senior Matt Russo's three-strike 10th frame. It forced Lawrence Tech's Kyle McGrath to double to win, and McGrath buried the first shot, but he left a 4 pin on the second delivery.

Lawrence Tech again had a chance to shut out Webber in the final frame of Game 2, but an open frame again opened the door for Russo. Needing to fill 19 pins for the win, Russo struck on his first offering, left a 3-7 split on the second shot and clipped the 3 pin on the fill for a 150-149 victory.

CLEMMER, HANKEY JR. VICTORIOUS AT 2019 ISC

McKendree junior Breanna Clemmer and freshman Tom Hankey Jr. of Webber International each captured national titles at the 2019 Intercollegiate Singles Championships at Poelking Lanes South in Dayton, Ohio.

Clemmer beat Vanderbilt's Jordan Newham for the women's title while Hankey rolled to a 245-182 victory over Wisconsin-Milwaukee's Matt Hibbard in the men's final.

Clemmer already owned a couple of collegiate titles as a member of the Bearcats' teams that won the 2017 Intercollegiate Team Championships and the NCAA Women's Bowling Championship. When she made the television show, she said a singles title was one item on her goals' list.

In the title match against Newham, Clemmer struck on five of her first six shots and held a 30-pin lead through seven frames. Both players would go spare-strike-spare to close the match, and Clemmer was able to check off her singles-title goal with a 226-194 victory.

"My family came in and surprised me the other day and it was amazing having them here and my girls here," Clemmer said, talking about her McKendree teammates. "It's just an amazing feeling and I really can't describe it."

"This is awesome, and right now it means the world to me," said Hankey, who won the U15 Junior Gold Championships

In Game 3, Webber sandwiched an open frame and a spare between six strikes during the first eight frames, but Lawrence Tech wouldn't go quietly despite some struggles. After a strike in the ninth, Lawrence Tech filled 20 pins in the 10th frame to set the stage for Webber.

Needing a mark to secure the Helmer Cup, Russo stepped up in the 10th frame and buried a strike on his first offering to give the program its second ITC title. Webber won the game 209-181.

"I just kept telling the guys to give me a shot," said Russo, who was selected as the tournament's most valuable player. "I like those clutch moments. When something means so much to me, I find a way to dig deep. It's the type of bowling I like to pride myself on."

Along with Russo, the Warriors' ITC team consisted of Evan Baraneky, Adam Glickman, Tom Hankey Jr., Brennan Haugh, Nash Medico, Maxx Tamburrino and Adam Zimmerman.

In addition to Russo and McGrath, selected to the men's all-tournament team were Pete Vergos of Calumet, Josh Pate of Wisconsin-Whitewater and Bryan Hahlen of McKendree. The Chris Stoehr Sportsmanship Award winner went to Wichita State's Wesley Low.

The 16 men's and 16 women's teams at the ITC qualified by finishing in the top four at one of four sectional events held in March that year. At the national tournament, teams bowled 24 Baker qualifying games to determine seeding for the double-elimination bracket, which featured best-of-seven Baker matches leading up to the title matches. The championship round featured best-of-five finals.

title in 2015. "All the hard work and dedication all year long, from August to now, this all comes together, and when it happens like that, it's an amazing feeling."

Hankey topped Kyle McGrath of Lawrence Tech, who he also saw in the team title match in 2019. Hankey started that match with four consecutive strikes, and while McGrath struck on three of his first four shots, he couldn't convert a 2-10 split in the second frame. Hankey continued to build on his 34-pin lead from that point, winning 248-178.

Hankey said having the second semifinal match was helpful in his run to the title.

"That was a big advantage," Hankey said. "I knew exactly what the lanes were doing, I could keep right in rhythm."

In the first men's semifinal, Hibbard struck on five of his first six shots in a 219-170 victory over Robert Morris-Illinois senior Daniel Hanson, who won the 2016 ISC title as a freshman. Hibbard built a 51-pin lead through six frames and stayed clean until the final frame.

The 2019 ISC had a field of 24 men and 24 women who qualified through one of four sectional events held throughout the country in March 2019.

Competition at Poelking Lanes South consisted of six qualifying games to determine seeding for the single-elimination match-play bracket. Bracket matches were three games, with total pinfall determining the winner, until the final rounds, which were one-game matches.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIPS FIELD

The 24 men and 24 women that qualified for the 2021 Intercollegiate Singles Championships were able to advance to the individual national championships by finishing in the top six at one of four sectional qualifying events held April 16. Take a look at the qualifiers and each of their finishing positions from sectionals. Each sectional featured a six-game qualifying block.
